Mr. Robert Amory, Jr.
Chief, International Division
Bureau of the Budget
Executive Office Building
Washington, D. C.

Dear Bob:

On Friday, John Warner handed to Don Smith five copies of our early retirement regulations. The key part of these regulations is, of course, criteria by which people will be selected to participate.

These regulations have received careful study by all elements of the Agency concerned. In addition, the Director determined, after his review, that he would like to have an objective look at the regulations by a panel of outside lawyers. Consequently, most of the time since the law was signed has been consumed by that panel. For your information the panel consisted of [redacted] represented by [redacted]

[redacted]

That panel has now completed its review and has no suggestions or recommendations at this time for any revisions. During the course of their review they did make a number of minor suggestions which were resolved and as a result a number of relatively minor revisions were made.

We have received queries on several occasions from the hill as to our progress on the regulations and when we might be implementing the Act. We would be most appreciative of early consideration by the Bureau of the Budget of these regulations. If there are any questions or if there is any information needed, we will be happy to meet with you or your people at any time.
